Risks Relating to the Company, Sector and Industry

Challenging macro-economic conditions

The Company's business and operations are affected by conditions in the Oman and other markets to which the Company exports, which in turn may be affected by regional and global economic conditions generally. A wide variety of factors may negatively impact economic conditions and consumer confidence in target markets, including the oil prices which the economy of Oman and most other countries in the Middle East have a high degree of reliance on. Changes in economic conditions can impact the financial results of the Company. The factors such as consumer spending, business investment, government spending, regulation, strength of capital markets and inflation all affect the business and economic environment and, ultimately, Company's activities, profitability and its share price. In an economic downturn characterized by higher unemployment, lower family income, lower corporate earnings, lower business investment and lower consumer spending, the demand for Company's products may be adversely affected.

The Company considers the economic outlook and its implications while drawing up its business plan. The company is always concerned about the prevailing and future changes in the global and national policies and will take appropriate and timely measures to safeguard its interests. Furthermore, the Board and the management monitor the functioning of the Company and adopt suitable actions in the event of any unanticipated developments. Strong brand equity of the Company in the local and international markets is expected to help withstand any unexpected changes or potential threats. Nevertheless, a stable and congenial business environment is the best situation in which the Company will achieve its maximum potential.

Competition

The Company operates in a competitive business environment where it faces competition especially on the pricing front from companies based out of other GCC countries. This could result in increased pressure on margins and profitability.

The Company has successfully accessed the market till date and is working on offering new and better quality products at competitive terms

Uncertainty in Aluminium prices

Aluminium price movement can be highly fluctuating thereby increasing the uncertainty regarding it. Volatile aluminium prices have been a major concern for the Company as it has negatively impacted the production, necessitated the requirement to hold more funds for working capital among other things.

The Company has put in place various risk management policies and procedures to manage these risks and to conduct its operations in a prudent manner.

Increase in tariffs and taxes

Any unexpected or unforeseen increase in taxes or tariffs could have a negative impact on the margins and profitability of the Company especially if the higher costs/expenses cannot be passed on to the end consumer.

The Company monitors the hikes and addresses it prudently to minimize such risks.

Significant Leverage

The Company has financed its operations through borrowings. Any changes in the interest rates could have a material adverse impact on the Company's operations, financial condition, and results of operations. This could result in the Company being unable to meet its financial obligations and may have adverse effects on the Company's operations, financial condition, and results of operations. As a part of availing facilities from Banks, the Company is subject to certain financial covenants, the breach of which prevents/reduces the Company's ability to make certain payments including dividend distributions.

The Company is very careful in addressing these issues and has put in place various policies and procedures to ensure prudent cash flow management.

Business cyclicality

The business which the Company is in is subject to cyclical changes, with significant fluctuations in operating results due to competition, catastrophic events, general economic and social conditions and other factors that are beyond the control of the Company. This cyclicality can produce periods characterized by price competition due to excessive supply as well as periods characterized by higher premiums due to shortages of supply. The Company is exposed to such regular effects, including the need to increase or decrease prices to remain profitable and competitive, which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

The Company has put in place various risk management policies and procedures to manage such risks and conduct its operations in a prudent manner.

Product Development

The Company is in continuous need to meet the demand for its products to be developed in a way to effectively cater to evolving customer needs. Any delay or non-availability of products and/or services may result in the Company losing its customers to competitors.

The Company is aware of technological changes, has adopted new technology and is continuously improving and innovating products to meet the ever-changing market needs. Furthermore, routine and proper maintenance of the equipment carried out by the Company ensures longer service life for the existing equipment and facilities.

Critical Accounting Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires the management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and reported amounts of assets, liabilities, income, and expenses. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis of making the judgements about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The resulting accounting estimates will, by definition, seldom equal the related actual results.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

Risk of Dependence on Key Personnel

The success of the Company depends, in part, on the Company's ability to continue to attract, retain and motivate qualified and skilled personnel. The Company relies on its senior management for the implementation of its strategy and its day-to-day operations. If the Company were unable to retain key members of its senior management and/or hire new qualified personnel in a timely manner, this could have an adverse effect on the operations of the Company, its business, and profits.

The Company places high importance on developing conducive human resource policies aimed at achieving employee satisfaction and motivation which help employee retention as well as attracting new talent.

Foreign Exchange Risk

The Company's transactions in foreign currencies are in EURO, US Dollars, Australian Dollars, UAE Dirhams, Saudi Riyals, and Pound Sterling.

The Company has substantial amount of imports and exports denominated in USD and since the Omani Rial is pegged to USD, there is no significant foreign exchange rate impact. However, if there is any significant adjustment or fluctuation in foreign exchange rates, it could impact the industry as a whole and there would be price adjustment in the market. The Company has put in place various risk management policies and procedures to monitor and these risks and to conduct its operations in a prudent manner.

Business Continuity Risks

The Company's business may be affected by natural disasters and accidents such as fire and other risks outside its control, which may result in interruption of business, loss of property, records, and information. Period Ending 31 July 2023	Average Closing Price (RO)	(Premium) / Discount of Issue Price to Average Closing Price
1-month average closing price	0.180	44.4%

6-month average closing price	0.114	12.2%
1-year average closing price	0.089	(12.4)%

Source: MSX. The above calculations based on 31 July 2023

* There was a technical adjustment in the share price of NAPCO by MSX. The closing price as on the date of EGM (05th April 2023) was 46 baiza and the share price has been revised to 180 baiza post technical adjustment. The new share price is calculated by dividing the pre capital reduction market capitalization by the new number of shares.

- (A) Market capitalization of NAPCO as per the cutoff date of 05th April 2023 = RO 1,544,286.7
ie share price of 46 baiza multiplied by previous number of shares (33,571,450)
- (B) New number of shares after the capital reduction = 8,571,450
- (C) New price (RO) = (A)/(B) = 1,544,286.7 / 8,571,450 = 0.180

The shares were subsequently traded on July 13th and July 16th at 116 baiza and the quantity traded were 16,085 and 11,000 shares respectively. As the company is listed on the 'Under Monitoring Market', the closing price will not change till the traded quantity (volume) exceeds the minimum traded volume threshold which is $\geq 20,001$. Hence the closing price of NAPCO as on 31 July 2023 was 180 baiza since the traded volumes on July 13th and July 16th did not cross the minimum threshold.
